Digitization and online publication of the Central Depot's indices in cooperation with the Archive of the Art History Museum and the Commission for Provenance Research

24 Nov 2016

Around 11,500 index cards from the so-called Central Depot for Jewish Cultural Property, which was situated in several 1st floor rooms of the Neue Burg from 1938 onward, have been preserved in the archives of the Art History Museum and the Federal Office for the Protection of Monuments. This important source material on Austria's Nazi history is now being digitized in cooperation with the Commission for Provenance Research and the Archive of the Art History Museum and shall subsequently be published online.
